DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation “the coating” in line 4. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Furthermore, the phrase “in particular” renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Regarding claims 3-6, the phrase “preferably” renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5 and 7-10 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nakagawa et al. Nakagawa et al (abstract) discloses an aluminum heat exchanger after-coated with a layer of alumina nanoparticles (i.e. 1 to 100 nm, page 2, last paragraph to page 3, second full paragraph) and a layer of silica nanoparticles (page 3, last paragraph).

Regarding claim 3, Nakagawa et al (page 2, last paragraph) discloses a corrosion protective base layer with the after-coated hydrophilic alumina nanoparticles.

Regarding claims 7-10, the presence of a method limitation in an apparatus claim bears limited patentable weight in this instance. See MPEP 2113.

Claims 1, 3-5 and 7-10 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kojima et al. Kojima et al (abstract) discloses an aluminum heat exchanger having a corrosion protective base layer after-coated with a layer of silica nanoparticles (i.e. 5 to 100 nm).

Regarding claim 4, a corrosion protective base layer et al (paragraph 36) discloses a contact angle of less than 20° is optimal.

Regarding claims 7-10, the presence of a method limitation in an apparatus claim bears limited patentable weight in this instance. See MPEP 2113.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakagawa et al or Kojima et al.

Nakagawa et al or Kojima et al discloses all the claimed limitations except a specific layer thickness.

This specific layer thickness is considered to be an obvious design expedient, producing no new and/or unexpected results and solving no stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art would employ any layer thickness to achieve a desired strength, longevity, effectiveness or heat transfer.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
